Crime Statistics Report Summary:

Between June and July 2025, the community experienced a modest shift in crime trends across the eight key crime categories. While several crime types saw slight increases, the overall number of reported occurrences decreased during this period.

Despite isolated increases, particularly in violent crime types (assault, sexual assault, robbery), the notable decrease in theft (down 22) was a significant contributing factor to the overall downward trend.

Compared to the five-year average for July, which stands at 88 reported occurrences, current figures remain within a reasonable range, suggesting stable or improved community safety trends for the month.
